MYSTERY OF THE NILE

How Water in the Historic River is Regulating the Harvest.

Every morning from a little room of a great white house on the eastern shore of the Nile, at Assuan, is clicked by telegraph to Cairo the question, "How much water?" The answer comes, so many thousand gallons more, or so many thousand gallons less. A button is pressed, the water which flows under the iron bridge at Cairo is increased or diminished some ten days later in accordance with the telegraphic answer, and the intervening valley between Assuan and Cairo has a little more or a little less water on its surface. The man at the button may bring joy or sorrow to thousands of little farms—it is all according to the message he receives.

From the great white house there extends across the river a granite wall or dam 150 feet high. Half way up this wall, and stretching its entire length, a line of shutters open or close by a pressure of the button. In the winter months a huge lake expands to the southward, which has every appearance of being a flood, for, in certain places, the tops of palm trees are discernable above its surface, and the summits of inundated ruins apparently mark the site of sunken cities. As the days go by and Cairo demands more and more water, the palm trees and the ruins seem to rise from their watery beds, until, in June and early July, the river flows freely with all its historic indolence.

Still the cry for water is unsatisfactory, and now the 150 feet of granite wall will be lengthened by 23 feet, which will double the power of the man at the button, and after that no more palms or ruins will unfold themselves, as the hot months come, from the surface of the lake. The palm trees will not be missed, but what of the ruins? That is the tribute of the past which modern agricultural Egypt is called upon to pay.

Just south of the granite wall is the island which holds the amphibious ruins. Twenty-three feet of granite now stand between it and oblivion. It is named Philae, and is the burial place of Osiris. A temple of 14 columns rises on its eastern bank, and on its western is the great temple of Isis, begun by Ptolemy Philadelphus and added to by the Roman emperors. Its front is in the form of a propylon, before which is an expansive court bounded by two galleries, the column sides of which skirt the shore for 250 feet. Beyond the propylon are many halls and chambers of curious and fantastic design. The whelming waters of the winter months have already begun their work. Floors have sunken, columns fallen, and walls crumbled. The 23 additional feet of granite will complete the work of devastation. Philae and its ruins will never again feel the sun of Egypt.

It was thought that the granite wall across the Nile at Assuan, 150 feet high, would provide perpetual irrigation for the desert to the north. That was a mistake. But will the 23 additional feet to the summit of the wall, which will forever bury Philae, complete the work? Will the man at the button in the great white house ever have the power that Joseph had to direct, increase or diminish the flow of the river? Joseph had no Assuan dam and no shutters to manipulate by the pressure of a button. In what, therefore, did his power to make Egypt perennially fertile consist?—New York Times.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative and my Book on either dyspepsia. The Heart or the Kidneys Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—means Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me to-day for samples and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by Haynes & Taylor.

Obituary.

The death angel has visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Binklo and made it sad and lonely by taking away their sweet little Rob, who was the joy and comfort of their home.

Robert James Binklo was born September 18, 1905 and died June 16, 1907. He was an intelligent, lovable little fellow and a favorite with all who knew him. He had just begun to say those precious, sweet words, "papa and mamma." But that sweet little voice is still and the noisy little feet will be heard no more in this land of sorrow. He had the terrible disease, flux and all that could be done by a faithful physician, fond parents and loving friends was done, but of no avail, it was the Lord's will to take him home to that bright world above to live with God and the angels.

Dear father and mother you can say as David said, "he can not return to but you can go to him" and Jesus said, "suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Little Rob was tenderly laid to rest in the Tyners Chappel cemetery to await the resurrection and when the trumpet of God shall sound, then he will rise clothed with all the beauties of glory and he, with all the redeemed of the Lord, shall be caught to meet the Lord in the air, so shall we ever be with him. So weep not as those who have no hope.

Dear father and mother bow in humble submission to Him who doth all things well; be faithful and it won't be long till you will meet your precious loved one in heaven, where diseases and death never come and where we will never say good bye.

RICE SCARES TEAM

Girl Pinned Between Door and Carriage Is Dragged by Horses and Badly Hurt

New York, June 23.—Guests at the wedding yesterday afternoon of Miss Josephine Heine and Frederick Dawson gathered around to congratulate the couple as they were the home of the bride's parents at No. 495 West Twenty-third street, West New York.

"May good luck always attend you!" cried the guests as the pair walked to the gaily-decorated carriage. The coachman stood at the carriage door, leaving the horses, a mettlesome team, unattended. As the bride's foot was on the step part of a shower of rice and old slippers intended for her struck the horses and they leaped forward as if with a lash.

The bride was caught between the door and the carriage and dragged for a dozen yards before she fell unconscious. Her leg was broken in two places, her body bruised and her pretty gown sadly torn. Dawson, well-nigh heartbroken, raised her in his arms and carried her into the house.

Henry Dawson, the father, was near the horses' heads when they bolted. In the excitement of the moment he thought his son's bride had entered the carriage and that her life perhaps depended upon his stopping the team. He clung to the headstalls and was dragged for half a block before his strength was exhausted. The wedding guests found him painfully cut and bruised and assisted him to the house.

The team ran to Hudson Boulevard and thence a mile and a half to Plum street, in Iron Hill, where the carriage valued at $1,000, crashed against a telephone pole and was totally wrecked.

The First Requisite of Beauty.

The first requisite of beauty is a clear complexion. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup clears a sallow blotched complexion as it stimulates the liver and bowels, and the eyes become bright and clear. You owe it to your friends to take it if your complexion is bad. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and is very pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. J. H. Orme.

Coal in England.

Coal has been reached at a depth of 1,321 feet in Lord Londonberry's new colliery at Seaham harbor, in England, after a remarkable engineering feat. Owing to the presence of enormous quantities of water, forming a quicksand, it was found necessary to freeze the ground to a depth of nearly 500 feet. Twenty-eight holes were bored in a circle about the shaft to a depth of 484 ft. and freezing tubes were inserted. Brine was the medium used to extract the heat from the strata. The length of time required to form a wall of ice was 185 days, the wall being maintained for 253 days. In the shaft bottom the frozen sand was so hard that it could only be penetrated by blasting.

Cured of Lung Trouble.

"It is now eleven years since I had a narrow escape from consumption," writes C. O. Floyd, a leading business man of Kershaw, S. C. Finally I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery, and continued this for about six months, when my cough and lung trouble were entirely gone and I was restored to my normal weight, 170 pounds." Thousands of persons are healed every year. Guaranteed at J. H. Orme's drug store 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

BITS OF BY-PLAY

James E. Travis is a clerk and delivery wagon driver for the Dial Corner Grocery. He says he has found two jobs that will suit Bob Fowler exactly. One is mixing paint for Hodge Fritts and the other is answering the phone for Lee Vick. It seems that Lee is on a deal with some Sturgis people to put in cement walks and the conversations over the phone have become burdensome. All this for Mr. Fowler's consideration.

In former years it used to be "Good morning, Mr. Gugenheim, how is your father?" It is now "Good morning, Mr. Gugenheim, how is your son?"

Jim Paris followed shoe making for a long time then went West. While there he dealt quite extensively in real estate and made quite a fortune. He had not been back home but a short while until he sold his Marion home in order that he might buy or build better, and is now contemplating the erection of a fine mansion. Taking all things into consideration, it is not any wonder that it is whispered about that he is a millionaire. Mr. Bill Fowler talks differently. He says he is not a millionaire, but a million rags in the air.

The Tree.

It shades us from the sun and storm; Its branches wide we see; But mark the course of mortal life In ages of the tree.

First on its trunk a lusty youth In most romantic part Entwined initials deftly carved, Surrounded by a heart.

Time runs. The busy years fly by On pinions swift and true; He cut a switch. Folks hear him say "This hurts me worse than you."

In lean and slippered pantaloons He hums an old refrain, And then for final age of all From it he cuts a cane.

Failed.

All efforts have failed to find a better remedy for coughs, colds and lung troubles than Foley's Honey and Tar. It stops the cough, heals the lungs and prevents serious results from a cold. J. N. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and two thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider it the greatest cough and lung medicine in the world." Sold by J. H. Orme.

Pearl Found in Fish Eye

Shelbyville, Ind., June, 29.—A fish with an eye of pearl, fabulous as the assertion may seem, was caught here by Peter Cummins in a well known fishing place in Brandywine creek. The prodigy of the finny tribe had lost, by some freak, its left eye. The socket was there, but the eye which had rested therein was absolutely solid. When abstracted from its resting place and submitted to the blows of a light hammer, it was found to be as hard as stone. By experienced fishermen it is said that it is a genuine pearl, such as are found in river mussels of a peculiar kind.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold only—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupefying poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label. If poisons are in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good! Hereafter for this very reason, others, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding
